Portfolio diversification

As of the business day before deposit date

Selection process

The strategy selects investments with the goal of providing monthly income from a diversified portfolio of global closed-end funds. An investment must pass several screens before it is included in the GLIN portfolio.

For Illustrative Purposes Only. Diversification does not guarantee a profit or eliminate the risk of loss.

Risk considerations

There is no assurance the trust will achieve its investment objective. An investment in this unit investment trust is subject to market risk, which is the possibility that the market values of securities owned by the trust will decline and that the value of trust units may therefore be less than what you paid for them. This trust is unmanaged and its portfolio is not intended to change during the trust's life except in limited circumstances. Accordingly, you can lose money investing in this trust.

You will bear not only your share of the trust's expenses, but also those of the underlying funds. By investing in other funds, the trust incurs greater expenses than you would incur if you invested directly in the funds.

A security issuer may be unable to make interest and/or principal payments in the future. This may reduce the level of dividends a closed-end fund pays which would reduce your income and cause the value of your units to fall.

Shares of closed-end funds frequently trade at a discount to their net asset value in the secondary market and the net asset value of closed-end fund shares may decrease.

Certain of the closed-end funds invest in bonds issued by foreign issuers. Such bonds are subject to certain risks including currency and interest rate fluctuations, nationalization or other adverse political or economic developments, lack of liquidity of certain foreign markets, withholding, the lack of adequate financial information, and exchange control restrictions impacting foreign issuers.

The yield on closed-end funds which invest in bonds will generally decline in a falling interest rate environment and increase in a rising interest rate environment.

Certain closed-end funds may employ the use of leverage in their portfolios. While leverage often increases the yield of a closed-end fund, it also increases risks, including the likelihood of increased volatility and the possibility that the closed-end fund's common share income will fall if the dividend rate on the preferred shares or the interest rate on any borrowings rises.

Certain closed-end funds may invest in high yield bonds that are generally below investment grade quality ("junk" bonds). Investing in such bonds should be viewed as speculative and you should review your ability to assume the risks associated with investments which utilize such bonds. Junk bonds are subject to numerous risks including higher interest rates, economic recession, deterioration of the junk bond market, possible downgrades and defaults of interest and/or principal. Junk bond prices tend to fluctuate more than higher rated bonds and are affected by short-term credit developments to a greater degree.

The trust may, from time to time, emphasize certain market sectors. To the extent the trust does so, it is more susceptible to economic, political and other occurrences influencing those sectors.

¹The estimated Net Annual Income per unit that appears on the reverse side of this page is as of 01/19/12 and is based on the most recently declared quarterly dividends, interim and final dividends accounting for any foreign withholding taxes or scheduled income payments, but may also be based upon several recently declared dividends. The actual net annual income distributions you receive will vary from the estimate set forth above with changes in the trust's fees and expenses, in income received, currency fluctuations and with the call, maturity or sale of securities. The actual net annual distributions are expected to decrease over time because a portion of the securities included in the trust will be sold to pay for organization costs, deferred sales charges and the creation and development fee. Securities may also be sold to pay regular fees and expenses during the trust's life.
