The Belt and Road Region runs through the continents of Asia, Europe and Africa connecting the vibrant East Asia economic circle at one end and developed European economic circle at the other, and encompassing countries with huge potential for economic development. China with the Persian Gulf and the Mediterranean Sea through Central Asia and West Asia; and connecting China with Southeast Asia, South Asia and the Indian Ocean. The 21st-Century Maritime Silk Road is designed to go from China's coast to Europe through the South China Sea and the Indian Ocean in one route, and from China's coast through the South China Sea to the South Pacific in the other. The Belt and Road Initiative is an economic vision of the opening up of and cooperation among the countries along the Belt and Road Region. Countries along the Belt and Road Region have their own resource advantages with economies that are mutually complementary creating great potential and ample space for cooperation. Areas of cooperation as promoted by the Belt and Road Initiative include but are not limited to: • Improving connectivity in infrastructure construction plans, technical standard systems in areas such as transportation, energy, communications, and information exchanges; • Promoting investment and trade facilitation by removing the physical and policy barriers, enhancing customs cooperation, and by making innovations in forms of trade, and developing cross-border e-commerce and other modern business models; • Deepening cooperation in agriculture, forestry, animal husbandry and fisheries, agricultural machinery manufacturing and farm produce processing, and promote cooperation in marine-product farming, deep-sea fishing, aquatic product processing, seawater desalination, marine biopharmacy, ocean engineering technology, environmental protection industries, marine tourism and other fields; • Promoting ecological progress in the exploration, development and processing of resources, conventional energy sources, clean and renewable energy sources so as to create an integrated industrial chain of energy and resource cooperation; • Promoting cooperation in emerging industries, establish R&D, production and marketing systems; and improve industrial supporting capacity and the overall competitiveness of regional industries; and • Deepening financial cooperation, and make more efforts in building a currency stability system, investment and financing system and credit information system in Asia. The Fund may enter into financial derivative instruments for efficient portfolio management, hedging purposes and for investment purposes (please refer to the "Investment Policy" above for further details on the use of derivatives for investment purposes). The expected proportion of the NAV of the Fund subject to total return swaps is 0%. Under normal circumstances, the maximum proportion of the NAV of the Fund subject to total return swaps is 30%.

It is believed that the changes proposed above will better allow the Fund to take advantage of additional investment opportunities created by changes in the market environment. From the inception of the Fund, China, through its Belt and Road Initiative, was a key driver for overall emerging market growth through extensive capital/trade flows, investments, and construction projects whereas in more recent times, while the Belt and Road initiative remains important, emerging market growth is now driven more by country/regional specific initiatives, regional block partnerships and emerging market / developed market cooperation.

The costs associated with any rebalancing of the underlying investments of the portfolio are reasonably estimated at 6 basis points (“bps”). These costs will be borne by the Fund, as it is believed that the updated investment policy will result in opportunities to improve investment returns and will enhance the opportunity to grow assets under management and thus benefit from economies of scale and, by association, lower costs.

Shareholders should note that while the rebalancing exercise will commence on 30 September 2024, certain trades may take a number of Business Days to complete. The entire exercise is expected to be completed by the Effective Dates. While it is expected that the entire process can be completed within 5 Business Days, it is possible that certain unforeseen events, such as a lack of market liquidity may impact the said timeline, however it is expected that any proportion not completed within 5 Business Days will be immaterial.

It should be noted that as from 26 August 2024, the Fund was temporarily closed to new investors in light of the fact that the Fund was intended to be repositioned. However, existing Shareholders have been and will be able to continue to subscribe, redeem or switch out from the share class of the Fund they are in, in accordance with the provisions disclosed in the Prospectus. The Fund will re-open to new investors from the Effective Date.

As a result of the above changes, the “Contingent convertible bond Risk” will be considered as a relevant risk to the Fund post-repositioning. The risk matrix disclosed in Section 8 (Risks Warnings) of the Prospectus will be updated accordingly.

To align better with the above changes, the Invesco Belt and Road Debt Fund will change its name to the Invesco Developing Initiatives Bond Fund on the Effective Date.

Finally, the “Profile of Typical investor” will be updated to reflect the updated policy and will read as follows (underlined text will be added and strikethrough text will be removed):

“The Fund will appeal to investors who are seeking a return over the medium and long term via exposure to a portfolio of debt securities of emerging market and developed issuers, which are expected to benefit ~~from the “Belt and Road Initiative”~~ from increases in global connectivity, regional partnerships and / or domestic growth in the Asian, European and African regions and are willing to accept moderate volatility. Due to the exposure of the Fund to emerging markets, high yield debt securities as well as financial derivative instruments the volatility can at times be magnified.”
