Invesco wins £2.5bn of new active equity mandates from Standard Life

London, 11 November 2026 – Invesco, one of the world's leading global asset managers, today announces that it has been awarded two new mandates by Standard Life. The appointments comprise a global equity mandate of approximately £2 billion managed by Invesco's Active Fundamental Equity team, alongside a £500 million US equity mandate managed by the Invesco Quantitative Strategies team.* These wins reflect the strength and longevity of Invesco's investment capabilities and the continued growth of its global equity and quantitative platforms.

The new mandates build on an existing relationship under which Invesco already manages more than £6 billion in UK equities on behalf of Standard Life. They expand Invesco's role in supporting Standard Life's investment offering and further strengthen the long-standing strategic partnership between the two firms.

The partnership has deepened over time through strong investment outcomes, shared values and a common commitment to delivering positive customer outcomes. By combining Standard Life's retirement and savings expertise with Invesco's global investment capabilities, the partnership is focused on helping millions of customers build greater financial resilience and achieve better retirement outcomes.

Stephanie Butcher, Co-head of investments at Invesco, said: "We are delighted to have been selected by Standard Life for these additional mandates, further strengthening our longstanding relationship. These appointments reflect the confidence Standard Life has placed in our investment capabilities, and we look forward to supporting the evolving needs of its customers."

Joe Steidl, Head of UK insurance distribution at Invesco, said "Large institutional investors increasingly value strategic investment partners that can provide a broad range of complementary capabilities through a single relationship. The expansion of our partnership with Standard Life reflects that trend. By combining active and quantitative investment expertise with global scale and resources, we are well positioned to support its long-term objectives and help deliver better outcomes for millions of customers saving for retirement.

Thomas Davies, Head of Policyholder Investment Office at Standard Life said: "Our priority is to deliver strong long-term outcomes for our customers and ensure their savings are invested in a way that supports their future financial security. These new mandates give our customers access to Invesco's global investment expertise across both active fundamental and quantitative strategies, while building on a long-standing partnership that has delivered strong investment outcomes. Ultimately, this appointment is about bringing together high-quality investment capabilities that can help our customers build greater financial resilience and achieve better outcomes in retirement."*
