How did you first get interested in the asset management industry / your field at Invesco?

I am a member of the senior legal team at Invesco and have been with our organization for 11 years. Prior to joining Invesco, my legal experience centered around mergers & acquisitions and in commercial work for a multi-national manufacturing company. Being at Invesco is highly rewarding and has challenged me to learn a new industry.

Outside of the office I enjoy being outdoors and working out regularly. I am huge animal lover, and spend as much time as I can with my crazy 4-year old Wheaten Terrier.

How does Invesco help you bring your “whole self” to work?

At Invesco, collaboration and diversity of thought are highly engrained in our DNA. When people interview at our firm, I advise them to embrace the concept of “IQ compounding” when it comes to initiatives. I also enjoy the fact that I’m able to bring my whole self to Invesco – the organization and its people are very accepting of colleagues.

What excites you most about the future of the Asset Management industry?

We are living in a very interesting time for the asset management industry – it’s facing a number of challenges created by the industry, by others outside the industry (e.g., disruptive technology), and by regulators of our industry. Invesco is a very strong organization, and I am confident that it will continue to grow and strengthen as our people work together to meet these challenges
