Important information

Summary of risk factors:

Invesco Real Estate Income Trust Inc. (INREIT) is a non-listed REIT that invests in stabilized, income-oriented commercial real estate in the United States. To a lesser extent, INREIT also invests in real estate-related securities to provide current income and a source of liquidity for its share repurchase plan, cash management and other purposes. This investment involves a high degree of risk and is intended only for investors with a long-term investment horizon and who do not require immediate liquidity or guaranteed income. If INREIT is unable to effectively manage the impact of the risks inherent in its business, it may not meet its investment objectives. You should only invest in INREIT if you can afford a complete loss of your investment. You should read the Prospectus carefully for a description of the risks associated with an investment in INREIT. The principal risks relating to an investment in INREIT include, but are not limited to the following:

- INREIT has a limited prior operating history, and there is no assurance that it will successfully achieve its investment objectives.
- INREIT has made limited investments to date and you will not have the opportunity to evaluate INREIT's future investments before it makes them, which makes your investment more speculative.
- Since there is no public trading market for shares of INREIT's common stock, repurchase of shares by INREIT will likely be the only way to dispose of your shares. INREIT's share repurchase plan will provide stockholders with the opportunity to request that INREIT repurchases their shares on a monthly basis, but INREIT is not obligated to repurchase any shares and may choose to repurchase only some, or even none, of the shares that have been requested to be repurchased in any month. In addition, repurchases will be subject to available liquidity and other significant restrictions. Further, INREIT's board of directors may make exceptions to, modify, or suspend its share repurchase plan. As a result, INREIT's shares should be considered as having only limited liquidity and at times may be illiquid. Your ability to have your shares repurchased through INREIT's share repurchase plan is limited, and if you do sell your shares to INREIT, you may receive less than the price you paid.
- INREIT cannot guarantee that it will make distributions, and if it does it may fund such distributions from sources other than cash flow from operations, including, without limitation, the sale of or repayments under INREIT's assets, borrowings, or offering proceeds, and INREIT has no limits on the amounts it may pay from such sources.
- The purchase price and repurchase price for shares of INREIT's common stock will generally be based on the prior month's NAV and will not be based on any public trading market. While there will be independent valuations of INREIT's properties quarterly, the valuation of properties is inherently subjective, and INREIT's NAV may not accurately reflect the actual price at which its properties could be liquidated on any given day.

- INREIT has no employees and is dependent on Invesco Advisers, Inc. ("Adviser") to conduct its operations. The Adviser will face conflicts of interest as a result of, among other things, the allocation of investment opportunities among INREIT and Other Invesco Accounts (as defined in the Prospectus), the allocation of time of its investment professionals and the substantial fees that INREIT will pay to the Adviser.
- INREIT is conducting a "best efforts" offering. If INREIT is not able to raise a substantial amount of capital on an ongoing basis, its ability to achieve its investment objectives could be adversely affected.
- Principal and interest payments on any borrowings will reduce the amount of funds available for distribution or investment in additional real estate assets.
- There are limitations on the ownership and transferability of INREIT's shares. No person or group may directly or indirectly acquire or hold more than 9.9% of INREIT's outstanding common stock in value or number of shares of all classes or series, whichever is more restrictive. An investment in INREIT is not a direct investment in real estate. See "Description of Capital Stock – Restrictions on Ownership and Transfer" in the prospectus for more information. INREIT does not own the Invesco name, but is permitted to use it as part of INREIT's corporate name pursuant to a trademark license agreement with an affiliate of Invesco. Use of the name by other parties or the termination of INREIT's trademark license agreement may harm its business.
- If INREIT fails to qualify as a REIT and no relief provisions apply, its NAV and cash available for distribution to its stockholders could materially decrease.
- Events or the conditions beyond INREIT's control, including outbreaks of contagious disease such as the global pandemic of the novel coronavirus that causes the disease known as coronavirus disease 2019 ("COVID-19"), may have an adverse impact on INREIT's NAV, results of operations and cash flows and INREIT's ability to source investments, obtain financing, fund distributions and satisfy repurchase requests.
- Accurate valuations are more difficult to obtain in times of low transaction volumes due to fewer market transactions that can be considered in the context of the appraisal. There will be no retroactive adjustment in the valuation of assets, INREIT's offering price of its common stock shares, the price INREIT paid to repurchase its common stock or NAV-based fees INREIT paid to the Adviser and the Dealer Manager to the extent valuations prove to not accurately reflect the realizable value of INREIT's assets. The price you will pay for shares of INREIT's common stock and the price at which shares may be repurchased will generally be based on the prior month's NAV per share. As a result, you may pay more than realizable value or receive less than realizable value for your investment.

Important information

Forward-looking statement disclosure

This material contains forward-looking statements about INREIT's business, including, in particular, statements about its plans, strategies and objectives. You can generally identify forward-looking statements by the use of forward-looking terminology such as "may," "will," "expect," "intend," "anticipate," "estimate," "believe," "continue" or other similar words. These statements include INREIT's plans and objectives for future operations, including plans and objectives relating to future growth and availability of funds, and are based on current expectations that involve numerous risks and uncertainties. Assumptions relating to these statements involve judgments with respect to, among other things, future economic, competitive and market conditions and future business decisions, all of which are difficult or impossible to accurately predict and many of which are beyond INREIT's control. Although INREIT believes the assumptions underlying the forward-looking statements, and the forward-looking statements themselves, are reasonable, any of the assumptions could be inaccurate and, therefore, there can be no assurance that these forward-looking statements will prove to be accurate, and INREIT's actual results, performance and achievements may be materially different from that expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. In light of the significant uncertainties inherent in these forward-looking statements, the inclusion of this information should not be regarded as a representation by INREIT or any other person that INREIT's objectives and plans, which are considered to be reasonable, will be achieved.

About other Invesco Real Estate investments

This material includes information related to prior investments Invesco Real Estate has made, in which INREIT will not have any interest. While the investment programs of other Invesco real estate accounts and INREIT's investment strategy each involve real estate-related investments and overlapping personnel, each of the accounts and strategies has distinct investment activities, including but not limited to, objectives, costs and expenses, tax features and leverage policies. Invesco Real Estate's experience in managing other Invesco real estate accounts and other Invesco accounts is not necessarily applicable to INREIT. There can be no assurance that INREIT will be able to successfully identify, make and realize any particular investment or generate returns for its investors.

Important information

Important Index Information:

The following indexes represent investments with material differences from an investment in non-traded REITs, such as INREIT, including related vehicle structure, investment objectives and restrictions, risks, fluctuation of principal, safety, guarantees or insurance, fees and expenses, liquidity, and tax treatment. An investment in INREIT is not a direct investment in real estate and has material differences from a direct investment in real estate, including those related to fees and expenses, liquidity, and tax treatment.

US Private Real Estate is represented by the NCREIF Property Index (the "NPI") on the basis that the NPI is the broadest measure of private real estate index returns. The NPI is published by the National Council of Real Estate Investment Fiduciaries and is a quarterly, composite total return (based on appraisal values) for private commercial real estate properties held for investment purposes including fund expenses but excluding leverage and management and advisory fees. The NPI excludes leverage and therefore is less volatile than real estate vehicles such as INREIT, which employ leverage. All properties in the NPI have been acquired, at least in part, on behalf of tax-exempt institutional investors and held in a fiduciary environment. NCREIF data reflects the returns of a blended portfolio of institutional quality real estate and does not reflect the use of leverage or the impact of management and advisory fees.

Non-listed REITs do not trade on a national securities exchange, and therefore, are generally illiquid. Early redemption of non-traded REIT shares is often very limited, and fees associated with the sale of these products can be higher than other asset classes. In some cases, periodic distributions may be subsidized by borrowed funds and include a return of investor principal. This is in contrast to the distributions investors receive from large corporate stocks that trade on national exchanges, which are typically derived solely from earnings. Investors typically seek income from non-traded REIT distributions over a period of years. Upon liquidation, return of capital may be more or less than the original investment depending on the value of assets. INREIT shares may be significantly less liquid than shares of publicly traded securities, and are not immune to fluctuations, including downward fluctuations. Additionally, the value of INREIT's underlying property holdings will fluctuate and be worth more or less than the acquisition cost when sold. Investors are advised to consider the limitations on liquidity of INREIT shares when also evaluating the volatility of its stock price as compared to that of the stock prices of publicly traded securities.

Distributions received from a REIT, including distributions that are reinvested pursuant to a distribution reinvestment plan, will generally be taxed as ordinary dividend income to the extent they are paid out of current or accumulated earnings and profits. The current maximum US federal income tax rate for distributions payable by corporations to domestic stockholders that are individuals, trusts, or estates is 20% (plus a 3.8% "Medicare tax" surcharge). Distributions payable by REITs, however, generally are taxed at the ordinary income tax rate applicable to the individual recipient, rather than the maximum 20% income tax rate, subject to certain applicable deductions. However, if a long-term capital gain is recognized upon the sale of an asset, a portion of distributions may be designated and treated as a long-term capital gain. In addition, some portion of distributions may not be subject to tax in the year received due to the fact that depreciation expense reduces earnings and profits but does not reduce cash available for distribution. Amounts distributed in excess of earnings and profits will reduce the tax basis of an investment and will not be taxable to the extent thereof on a current basis, and distributions in excess of tax basis will be taxable as an amount realized from the sale of shares of common stock. This, in effect, would defer a portion of taxes payable until the investment is sold or the REIT is liquidated, at which time one may be taxed at capital gains rates. However, each investor's tax considerations are different and consulting a tax advisor is recommended. Any of the data provided herein should not be construed as investment, tax, accounting or legal advice. Fixed income securities are subject to interest rate, inflation, credit and default risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. Prices may decline if an issuer fails to make timely payments or its credit strength weakens.

Important term definitions

Performance participation allocation

The Special Limited Partner will hold a performance participation interest in INREIT's Operating Partnership that entitles it to receive an allocation from the Operating Partnership equal to 12.5% of the Total Return, subject to a 6% Hurdle Amount and a High-Water Mark, with a Catch-Up (each term as defined below). Such allocation will be made annually and accrue monthly.

"Total Return" for any period since the end of the prior calendar year shall equal the sum of: (1) all distributions accrued or paid (without duplication) on the Operating Partnership units outstanding at the end of such period since the beginning of the then-current calendar year, plus (2) the change in aggregate NAV of such units since the beginning of the year, before giving effect to (x) changes resulting solely from the proceeds of issuances of Operating Partnership units, (y) any allocation/accrual to the Performance Participation and (z) applicable stockholder servicing fee expenses (including any payments made to us for payment of such expenses). For the avoidance of doubt, the calculation of Total Return will (i) include any appreciation or depreciation in the NAV of units issued during the then-current calendar year but (ii) exclude the proceeds from the initial issuance of such units.

Specifically, the Special Limited Partner will be allocated a performance participation in an amount equal to:

- First, if the Total Return for the applicable period exceeds the sum of (1) the Hurdle Amount for that period and (2) the Loss Carryforward Amount (any such excess, "Excess Profits"), 100% of such Excess Profits until the total amount allocated to the Special Limited Partner equals 12.5% of the sum of (x) the Hurdle Amount for that period and (y) any amount allocated to the Special Limited Partner pursuant to this clause (this is commonly referred to as a "Catch-Up"); and
- Second, to the extent there are remaining Excess Profits, 12.5% of such remaining Excess Profits.

Important term definitions

“Hurdle Amount” for any period during a calendar year means that amount that results in a 6% annualized internal rate of return on the NAV of the Operating Partnership units (other than Class N units and Class E units) outstanding at the beginning of the then-current calendar year and all Operating Partnership units (other than Class N units and Class E units) issued since the beginning of the then-current calendar year, taking into account the timing and amount of all distributions accrued or paid (without duplication) on all such units and all issuances of Operating Partnership units over the period and calculated in accordance with recognized industry practices. The ending NAV of the Operating Partnership units used in calculating the internal rate of return will be calculated before giving effect to any allocation/accrual to the Performance Participation and applicable stockholder servicing fee expenses, provided that the calculation of the Hurdle Amount for any period will exclude any Operating Partnership units repurchased during such period, which units will be subject to the Performance Participation upon repurchase as described below. Except as described below in regards to Loss Carryforward Amounts, any amount by which Total Return falls below the Hurdle Amount will not be carried forward to subsequent periods.

“Loss Carryforward Amount” shall initially equal zero and shall cumulatively increase by the absolute value of any negative annual Total Return and decrease by any positive annual Total Return, provided that the Loss Carryforward Amount shall at no time be less than zero and provided further that the calculation of the Loss Carryforward Amount will exclude the Total Return related to any Operating Partnership units (other than Class N units and Class E units) repurchased during such year, which units will be subject to the Performance Participation upon repurchase as described below. The effect of the Loss Carryforward Amount is that the recoupment of past annual Total Return losses will offset the positive annual Total Return for purposes of the calculation of the Performance Participation. This is referred to as a “High-Water Mark.”

Correlation: A statistical measure of how two securities move in relation to each other. The higher the coefficient (1.00 is the maximum), the greater the correlation between the two assets or markets.

Global Real Estate Sustainability Benchmark (GRESB): The environmental, social and governance benchmark for real assets.

Leverage ratio: Leverage ratio is measured by dividing (i) consolidated property-level and entity-level debt net of cash and loan-related restricted cash, by (ii) the asset value of real estate investments (measured using the greater of fair market value and cost) plus the equity in INREIT’s settled real estate debt investments.

Indebtedness incurred (i) in connection with funding a deposit in advance of the closing of an investment or (ii) as other working capital advances will not be included as part of the calculation above. The leverage ratio would be higher if the indebtedness on INREIT’s real estate debt investments and the pro rata share of debt within INREIT’s unconsolidated investments were taken into account.

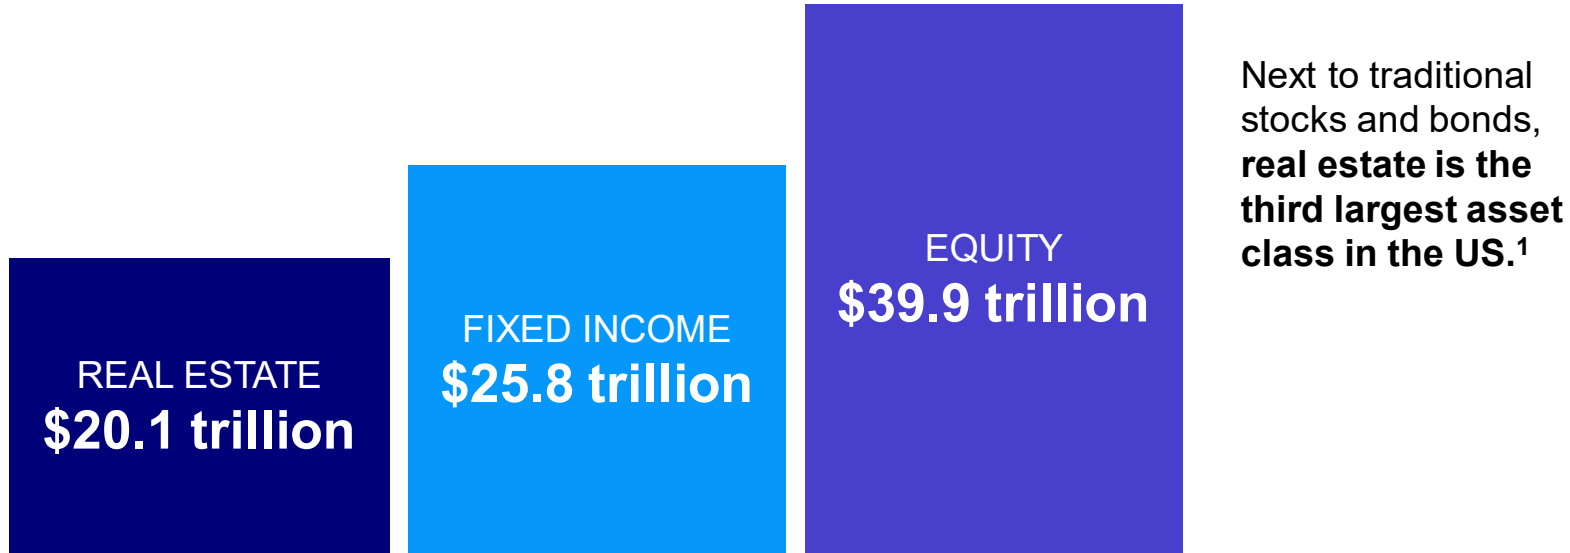

Principles for responsible investments: The UN Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI) is an international organization that works to promote the incorporation of environmental, social and corporate governance factors (ESG) into investment decision-making.

Risk-adjusted return: A calculation of the profit or potential profit from an investment that takes into account the degree of risk that must be accepted in order to achieve it.

Standard deviation: Measures the degree to which the performance of a portfolio varies from its average performance during a specialized period.

Real estate investing gap between institutional and individual investors

Target allocation to real estate (%) by type of investor

Institutional investors have long understood the merits of real estate and have historically devoted a larger portion of their portfolios to this important asset class. Individual investors have typically committed much lower portfolio allocations and may be missing out.

There are material differences in the investment goals, liquidity needs, and investment horizons of individual and institutional investors. Investors should consult with a financial professional regarding their own situation and risk tolerance before making any investment decisions. Retail investors may already have significant exposure to the real estate asset class through home ownership.

Real Estate Income Has Historically Kept Pace With Inflation

Real estate income (represented by NOI growth¹) vs. inflation (represented by CPI²), 1994 = 100

Source: Green Street Advisors, Bureau of Labor Statistics as of March 31, 2022.

1 Net operating income (NOI) growth is the average NOI growth by year across the major property sectors in North America: apartment, industrial, mall, office and strip retail. NOI growth equals all revenue from a property minus all reasonably necessary operating expenses. NOI growth may not be correlated to or continue to keep pace with inflation.

2 Consumer Price Index (CPI) is a measure of the average change over time in the prices paid by urban consumers for a representative basket of goods and services.

Intentionally Tax-efficient, Designed To Benefit Long-term Investors

Deductions and depreciation.

Investors may benefit from INREIT's ability to deduct certain expenses, such as mortgage interest, property repairs, and depreciation.

Capital gains taxes instead of income taxes.

INREIT may realize any profits from a property sale as a short-term or long-term capital gain, and the tax rates are typically lower than ordinary income tax rates¹.

Tax reduction.

INREIT may use certain reduction methods of investing in real estate, such as 1031 exchanges² to avoid or delay paying tax on capital gains.

REITs and taxes.

INREIT is not subject to corporate income tax on earnings distributed to investors, and dividends are taxed at investors' individual tax rates³. Tax reporting is also more straight-forward on a 1099-DIV (no K-1s).

The information provided here does not constitute tax advice. Because each investor's tax position is different, the benefits listed above may not be realized. A change in U.S. tax laws could also have impact on the benefits of investing in real estate. Investors should always consult with a tax professional before making any investment decisions. Please note that an investment in INREIT does not constitute ownership in the properties it has acquired or will acquire.

1. Ordinary income tax brackets in the U.S. range from 10% to 37%. Short-term capital gains, which are properties held one year or less, can range from 10% to 37% depending on ordinary income tax bracket. Long-term capital gains, which are properties held a year and one day or more, are taxed more favorably, ranging from 0% to 20% depending on income tax bracket.
2. Named after Section 1031 in the IRS tax code, a 1031 exchange is a legal transaction that allows real estate investors to swap an investment property for a like-kind property, thereby avoiding capital gains or depreciation recapture on the sale of the property. On April 28, 2021, President Biden proposed a series of tax reforms ("Biden Tax Reform"), one of which would limit 1031 exchanges to real estate profits of $500,000 or less. The Biden Tax Reform, if passed by Congress and signed into law, could limit our ability to use 1031 exchanges.
3. The taxable portion of REIT distributions is reduced to the extent there is return on capital resulting from depreciation and amortization. The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 is not applicable to capital gain dividends or certain qualified dividend income. It is only available for qualified REITs and the board is authorized to revoke the REIT election. The tax benefit is set to expire after December 31, 2025.

Invesco Core Real Estate Composite – Total Returns

Data as of March 31, 2022. The Invesco Core Real Estate Composite is a non-compliant supplemental portfolio to the Invesco North America Direct Real Estate Composite. The returns are quarterly time weighted total returns calculated in compliance with PREA Reporting Standards. Returns are leveraged, property level, and gross of fees. Leverage for the composite was estimated to be approx. 22.24%. The composite consists of property level returns of core properties held in separate accounts and fund vehicles under Invesco Real Estate's management whose fees vary by client and vehicle. The returns are shown here gross of fees, in line with the benchmark data, and would be lower when reduced by the advisory fees and any other expenses incurred in the management of an investment advisory account. For example, an account with an assumed growth rate of 10% would realize a net of fees annualized return of 8.91% after three years, assuming a 1% management fee.

The NFI-ODCE (Equal Weighted) index reflects investment level returns on a leveraged basis, gross of fees. Leverage for the index was estimated to be approx. 22.14%.
