Market overview
+ Key issues that concerned investors in the second quarter carried over into the third quarter. US-China trade conflict worried investors and stifled business investment even as the Federal Reserve cut interest rates by 0.25% in both July and September. This environment, combined with evidence of slowing global economic growth, fueled volatility in August. The US Treasury yield curve inverted several times, raising fears of a US recession. As a result, August saw increased risk aversion, with investors crowding into asset classes perceived as safe havens, such as US Treasuries and gold. However, the Fed’s accommodative tone provided some support for risk assets. Oil prices briefly spiked in September after a drone attack on Saudi Arabia’s oil fields caused a supply shock. Prices retreated a bit after the US announced it would tap the national oil reserves to alleviate the supply shortage. Despite increased volatility, US equity markets delivered generally positive results, with the S&P 500 Index returning 1.70%.

Positioning and outlook
+ The fund’s largest weightings are in the IT, financials, health care and communication services sectors. The smallest weightings are in the real estate, materials and utilities sectors.
+ The fund invests in a diversified portfolio of common stocks represented in the S&P 500 Index. Buy and sell decisions are not made by the management team. The S&P 500 Index dictates the buy and sell decisions.
+ As always, we caution investors against making investment decisions based on short-term performance and recommend that you consult a financial advisor to discuss your individual financial program.

Performance highlights
+ The fund’s Class A shares at net asset value (NAV) performed in line with the S&P 500 Index (before fees) for the third quarter. (Please see the investment results table on page 2 for fund and index performance.)

About risk

Derivatives may be more volatile and less liquid than traditional investments and are subject to market, interest rate, credit, leverage, counterparty and management risks. An investment in a derivative could lose more than the cash amount invested.

Because the fund operates as a passively managed index fund, adverse performance of a particular stock ordinarily will not result in its elimination from the fund’s portfolio. Ordinarily, the Adviser will not sell the fund’s portfolio securities except to reflect changes in the stocks that comprise the S&P 500 Index, or as may be necessary to raise cash to pay fund shareholders who sell fund shares.

The fund is subject to certain other risks. Please see the current prospectus for more information regarding the risks associated with an investment in the fund.
