* Represents the principal amount of the underlying bonds per unit as of the close of business on the trust's deposit date. Subsequently, bonds may be sold to meet redemptions, to pay expenses, and in other limited circumstances. The sale of bonds will affect the principal amount of bonds included in the trust and as a result the principal amount of bonds per unit. There can be no assurance that a unitholder will receive this par value per unit subsequent to the deposit date.

† Reflects the minimum credit quality of underlying securities in the portfolio as rated by S&P/Fitch and Moody's, when available. Not all bonds are rated by each service. Although the bonds in the portfolio are rated at or above the minimum credit quality as of deposit date, each bond's rating may change after its inclusion in the trust.

1 These estimates are calculated as of the close of business on the deposit date and will vary thereafter. Estimated current return shows the estimated interest distributions you are scheduled to receive each year divided by the unit price. Estimated long term return shows the estimated return over the estimated life of the trust. We base this estimate on an average of the bond yields over their estimated life. Estimated long term return also reflects the sales charge and estimated expenses. The average yield for the portfolio is derived by weighting each bond's yield by its value and estimated life. Unlike estimated current return, estimated long term return accounts for maturities, discounts and premiums of the bonds. These estimates show a comparison rather than a prediction of returns. No return calculation can predict your actual return. Your actual return may vary from these estimates. The estimates relating to units held in "wrap fee" accounts will typically be higher due to applicable sales charge waivers, which are fully described in the prospectus. Current estimates are available at www.invesco.com/uit.

About risk

There is no assurance that a unit investment trust will achieve its investment objective. An investment in this unit trust is subject to market risk, which is the possibility that the market values of securities owned by the trust will decline and that the value of trust units may therefore be less than what your clients paid for them. This trust is unmanaged. Accordingly, your clients can lose money investing in this trust. An investment in the trust should be made with an understanding of the risks associated therewith, such as the inability of the issuer to pay the principal of or interest on a bond when due, volatile interest rates, early call provisions and changes to the tax status of the bonds.

The value of the bonds will generally fall if interest rates, in general, rise. In a low interest rate environment risks associated with rising rates are heightened. The negative impact on fixed income securities from any interest rate increases could be swift and significant. No one can predict whether interest rates will rise or fall in the future.

During periods of market turbulence, corporate bonds may experience illiquidity and volatility. During such periods, there can be uncertainty in assessing the financial condition of an issuer. As a result, the ratings of the bonds in the trust's portfolio may not accurately reflect an issuer's current financial condition, prospects, or the extent of the risks associated with investing in such issuer's securities.

Bonds of foreign issuers present risks beyond those of U.S. issuers. These risks may include market and political factors related to an issuer's foreign market, international trade conditions, less regulation, smaller or less liquid markets, increased volatility, differing accounting practices and changes in the value of foreign currencies.

Although the underlying securities in the portfolio are rated at or above the minimum credit quality as of the date of deposit, the ratings may change after inclusion in the trust.
