Market overview

- After a turbulent fourth quarter for global capital markets, the first quarter of 2019 produced more positive results as equities rallied, fueled by accommodative central bank policy and potential for a US/China trade deal. In January, China's central bank initiated a stimulus program to counteract its slowing economy, while the European Central Bank and US Federal Reserve later indicated they would not raise interest rates for the remainder of 2019. Lack of consensus on a deal for the UK's withdrawal from the European Union prompted additional concerns for UK and Eurozone economies, though equity markets across the region posted gains. US and Chinese equities also delivered robust gains. Emerging markets, which had come under pressure in 2018 from Fed tightening, particularly its balance sheet normalization, benefited from the Fed's more accommodative stance. All in all, more accommodative central banks were a real positive for risk asset returns in the first quarter and should be positive for economic growth.

Performance highlights

- Invesco Select Companies Fund Class A shares at net asset value (NAV) outperformed the Russell 2000 Index. (Please see the investment results table on page 2 for fund and index performance.)

Contributors to performance

- Stock selection within the financials and information technology sectors benefited the fund's relative performance.
- Top contributors to fund performance for the quarter included Liberty Broadband and Global Payment.
- Liberty Broadband is one of the largest US providers of cable services, offering a variety of entertainment, information and communications solutions to residential and commercial customers. Toward the middle of the first quarter, the company's stock surged despite there being no significant company news.
- Global Payment is a technology firm that enables merchants to accept card and digital payments in return for small transaction processing fees. Shares appreciated after fourth quarter results beat analyst expectations, with management citing strong organic growth in North America.

Detractors from performance

- The fund's holdings in the industrials and real estate sectors underperformed those of the benchmark.
- Notable detractors from fund performance during the quarter included Spirit Airlines and Performant Financial.
- Spirit Airlines is an ultra-low-cost US airline operator. During the quarter, Spirit Airlines reported strong earnings that beat analyst expectations, but later provided a lukewarm short-term outlook regarding the airline industry's revenue environment. In addition, the Boeing 737 Max disaster negatively affected shares across the airline industry.
- Performant is a data analytics and services business that helps the government collect unpaid receivables. Despite a better-than-expected earnings release, shares of the company fell slightly even though there was no particular company news.

Positioning and outlook

- We have continued to invest in companies with strong fundamentals, in growing industries and with strong competitive advantages. We believe it is best to ignore short-term market noise and focus on the long-term fundamentals of businesses.
- We are focused on risk, which we view as permanent loss of capital. Even during volatile market conditions, we will not compromise our quality standards. We will continue to seek high quality companies with considerable free cash flow dependability and strong balance sheets. If we have difficulty finding these investments, we will default to cash.

Performance quoted is past performance and cannot guarantee comparable future results; current performance may be lower or higher. Visit invesco.com/performance for the most recent month-end performance. Performance figures reflect reinvested distributions and changes in net asset value (NAV). Investment return and principal value will vary, and you may have a gain or a loss when you sell shares. No contingent deferred sales charge (CDSC) will be imposed on redemptions of Class C shares following one year from the date shares were purchased. Performance shown at NAV does not include applicable CDSC or front-end sales charges, which would have reduced the performance. Class Y shares have no sales charge; therefore, performance is at NAV. Returns less than one year are cumulative; all others are annualized. Fund performance reflects any applicable fee waivers and/or expense reimbursements. Had the adviser not waived fees and/or reimbursed expenses currently or in the past, returns would have been lower. See current prospectus for more information. Index returns do not reflect any fees, expenses, or sales charges.

About risk

Holding cash or cash equivalents may negatively affect performance.

The risks of investing in securities of foreign issuers can include fluctuations in foreign currencies, political and economic instability, and foreign taxation issues.

Because the fund may hold a limited number of securities, a change in the value of these securities could significantly affect the investment value of the fund.

Stocks of small and mid-sized companies tend to be more vulnerable to adverse developments, may be more volatile, and may be illiquid or restricted as to resale.

A value style of investing is subject to the risk that the valuations never improve or that the returns will trail other styles of investing or the overall stock markets.

The fund is subject to certain other risks. Please see the current prospectus for more information regarding the risks associated with an investment in the fund.
