Investment risks

There are risks involved with investing in ETFs, including possible loss of money. Shares are not actively managed and are subject to risks similar to those of stocks, including those regarding short selling and margin maintenance requirements. Ordinary brokerage commissions apply. The Fund's return may not match the return of the Underlying Index. The Fund is subject to certain other risks. Please see the current prospectus for more information regarding the risk associated with an investment in the Fund.

The performance of an investment concentrated in issuers of a certain region or country, such as North America and Japan, is expected to be closely tied to conditions within that region and to be more volatile than more geographically diversified investments.

REITs are pooled investment vehicles that trade like stocks and invest substantially all of their assets in real estate and may qualify for special tax considerations. REITs are subject to risks inherent in the direct ownership of real estate. A company's failure to qualify as a REIT under federal tax law may have adverse consequences to the REIT's shareholders. REITs may have expenses, including advisory and administration, and REIT shareholders will incur a proportionate share of the underlying expenses.

Investments focused in a particular sector, such as real estate, are subject to greater risk, and are more greatly impacted by market volatility, than more diversified investments.

Stocks of small and mid-sized companies tend to be more vulnerable to adverse developments, may be more volatile, and may be illiquid or restricted as to resale.

The Fund is non-diversified and may experience greater volatility than a more diversified investment.

Thematic investing involves the risk that the green building theme is out of favor, or that the securities chosen to represent that theme underperform the market as a whole. The Fund relies on the Index Provider to identify securities in the Index that reflect the environmental theme of "green building". Fund performance may suffer if securities are not correctly identified or do not benefit from the development of such theme. Information used by the Index Provider to evaluate ESG factors may not be readily available, complete or accurate, which could negatively impact the Index Provider's ability to apply its ESG standards when compiling the Index, and as a result Fund performance may negatively impacted. Performance may also be impacted by the inclusion of non-theme-relevant exposures. There is no guarantee that the Index will reflect exposures to the green building investment theme.

The risks of investing in securities of foreign issuers, including emerging market issuers, can include fluctuations in foreign currencies, political and economic instability, and foreign taxation issues.
