A history of fundamental growth

12/31/05 – 12/31/25

The Nasdaq-100 Index®, Invesco QQQ's underlying index, has shown higher historical growth rates — resulting in Invesco QQQ's outperformance against industry benchmarks (20-year compound annual growth rate).

Source: Nasdaq and FactSet, 12/31/05 - 12/31/25. Compound annual growth rate (CAGR) represents the rate at which an investment would have grown if it had grown at the same rate every year and the profits were reinvested at the end of each year. CAGR is not a true rate of return and is not influenced by interest rate changes or the volatility the investment might experience over the period.

Performance data quoted represents past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results. Investment returns and principal value will fluctuate, and shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be higher or lower than performance data quoted. See invesco.com to find the most recent month-end performance numbers. Fund performance reflects fee waivers, absent which, performance data quoted would have been lower. Market returns are based on the midpoint of the bid/ask spread at 4:00 p.m. EST and do not represent the returns an investor would receive if shares were traded at other times. Index returns do not reflect fund returns. An investor cannot invest directly in an index. Returns less than one year are cumulative. Please keep in mind that high, double-digit and/or triple-digit returns are highly unusual and cannot be sustained

All data as of 9/30/26, unless otherwise stated.

There are risks involved with investing in ETFs, including possible loss of money. Shares are not actively managed and are subject to risks similar to those of stocks, including those regarding short selling and margin maintenance requirements. Ordinary brokerage commissions apply. The fund's return may not match the return of the Underlying Index. The fund is subject to certain other risks. Please see the current prospectus for more information regarding the risk associated with an investment in the fund.

Investments focused in a particular sector, such as technology, are subject to greater risk, and are more greatly impacted by market volatility, than more diversified investments.

The Fund is non-diversified and may experience greater volatility than a more diversified investment.

The risks of investing in securities of foreign issuers can include fluctuations in foreign currencies, political and economic instability, and foreign taxation issues.

Shares are not individually redeemable and owners of the Shares may acquire those Shares from the funds and tender those shares for redemption to the funds in Creation Unit aggregations only, typically consisting of 10,000, 20,000, 25,000, 50,000, 80,000, 100,000 or 150,000 Shares.

Open-end mutual funds and exchange-traded funds are considered a single population for comparison purposes. Ratings are calculated for funds with at least a three year history. The overall rating is derived from a weighted average of three-, five- and 10-year rating metrics, as applicable, excluding sales charges and including fees and expenses. Had fees not been waived and/or expenses reimbursed currently or in the past, the Morningstar rating would have been lower. ©2026 Morningstar Inc. All rights reserved. Neither Morningstar nor its content providers are responsible for any damages or losses arising from any use of this information. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The top 10% of funds in a category receive five stars, the next 22.5% four stars, the next 35% three stars, the next 22.5% two stars and the bottom 10% one star. Ratings are subject to change monthly.

The Index and Fund use the Industry Classification Benchmark ("ICB") classification system which is composed of 11 economic industries: basic materials, consumer discretionary, consumer staples, energy, financials, health care, industrials, real estate, technology, telecommunications and utilities.

Before investing, investors should carefully read the prospectus and/or summary prospectus and carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses.
