Overall Morningstar Rating™

Large Growth (1236 funds) as of Sept. 30, 2019.

Morningstar ratings are based on a risk-adjusted return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (excluding the effect of sales charges, loads and redemption fees) placing more emphasis on the downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. Lipper fund percentile rankings are based on total returns, excluding sales charges and including fees and expenses, and are versus mutual funds, ETFs and funds of funds in the category tracked by Lipper.

*Lipper Large-Cap Growth Classification median expense ratio and average annualized capital gains rate (% NAV) are based on open-end, no-load mutual funds and ETFs; excludes funds of funds.

Key features

QQQ is an exchange-traded fund (ETF) designed to track the Nasdaq-100 Index®, which comprises the 100 largest non-financial companies traded on the Nasdaq. QQQ provides access to some of the strongest, most innovative global companies in the world.

Key features of QQQ:

- 1 Leading large-cap growth fund with a history of long-term performance¹
- 2 A legacy of innovation fueled by robust research and development (R&D) of the Nasdaq-100 Index
- 3 Access to profitable, growing companies with strong fundamentals
- 4 Diversification benefits within the US large-cap equity space

Leading large-cap growth fund with a history of long-term performance¹

QQQ's legacy of innovation has made it the second most actively traded ETF, and the seventh-largest ETF by assets under management in the US.² QQQ's history of long-term outperformance can be seen through the growth of a $10,000 investment over 10 years.

Performance data quoted represents past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results. Investment returns and principal value will fluctuate, and shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be higher or lower than performance data quoted. See invesco.com to find the most recent month-end performance numbers. Fund performance reflects fee waivers, absent which, performance data quoted would have been lower. Market returns are based on the midpoint of the bid/ask spread at 4 p.m. ET and do not represent the returns an investor would receive if shares were traded at other times. Index returns do not reflect fund returns. An investor cannot invest directly in an index. Returns less than one year are cumulative.

QQQ's underlying index outperformed the S&P 500 Index 87.1% of the time and the Russell 1000 Growth Index 92.5% of the time on a 10-year monthly rolling basis.

Win rate refers to the percentage of periods a fund or index outperforms a benchmark index.

A legacy of innovation fueled by robust R&D of the Nasdaq-100 Index

QQQ provides access to some of the world's most innovative names – including leading technology, health care and consumer companies. These are firms that have developed disruptive technologies through cutting-edge research and development. In fact, since 2015, the innovative firms within QQQ's underlying Nasdaq-100 Index have consistently invested more in R&D than other index constituents.

The Nasdaq-100 R&D advantage: The foundation of innovation

Companies comprising the Nasdaq-100 in aggregate:

- + Invest 2x more in R&D than companies in competing indexes
- + Spend a higher percentage of sales on R&D than competing index constituents

QQQ companies have historically invested a higher percentage of sales in R&D – providing the potential for cutting-edge product innovation and sustainable earnings growth.

Not all technology companies are the same.

Profitable, growing companies with strong fundamentals

The Nasdaq-100 is made up of cutting-edge blue-chip companies with distinct competitive advantages and a proven ability to convert innovation into profits.

- + QQQ constituents have demonstrated robust revenue, earnings and dividend growth
- + QQQ companies have strong brand equity, valuable patents and economies of scale that may drive product demand and pricing power

Since 2008, QQQ's underlying index constituents have generated higher growth rates across revenue, earnings and dividends than those of the S&P 500 Index and Russell 1000 Growth Index.

Diversification benefits within US large-cap equity space

Modern portfolio theory suggests that combining assets that are not perfectly correlated can result in a more diversified portfolio. QQQ's underlying Nasdaq-100 Index offers the lowest average asset correlation of the four leading US large-cap indexes – creating the potential for risk reduction without sacrificing return. In addition, the Nasdaq-100 Index has the lowest average correlation to the S&P 500 Index at 0.83.

Risk & other information

While it is not Invesco's intention, there is no guarantee that the fund will not distribute capital gains to its shareholders.

Investments focused in a particular sector, such as technology, are subject to greater risk, and are more greatly impacted by market volatility, than more diversified investments.

The fund shown may currently be experiencing negative performance. For the most recent month-end performance data, please visit invesco.com/us. Please note that it is possible for a four- or five-star fund to exhibit low or negative performance within a given period.

Investors should be aware of the material differences between mutual funds and ETFs. ETFs generally have lower expenses than actively managed mutual funds due to their different management styles. Most ETFs are passively managed and are structured to track an index, whereas many mutual funds are actively managed and thus have higher management fees. Unlike ETFs, actively managed mutual funds have the ability react to market changes and the potential to outperform a stated benchmark. Since ordinary brokerage commissions apply for each ETF buy and sell transaction, frequent trading activity may increase the cost of ETFs. ETFs can be traded throughout the day, whereas, mutual funds are traded only once a day. While extreme market conditions could result in illiquidity for ETFs. Typically they are still more liquid than most traditional mutual funds because they trade on exchanges. Investors should talk with their advisers regarding their situation before investing.

Morningstar Ratings

As of Sept. 30, 2019, the fund had an overall rating of 5 stars out of 1236 funds, 4 stars out of 1236 funds for the 3-year period, 5 stars out of 1110 funds for the 5-year period and 5 stars out of 819 funds for the 10-year period, respectively in the Large Growth Category.

Open-end mutual funds and exchange-traded funds are considered a single population for comparison purposes. Ratings are calculated for funds with at least a three year history. The overall rating is derived from a weighted average of three-, five- and 10-year rating metrics, as applicable, excluding sales charges and including fees and expenses. Had fees not been waived and/or expenses reimbursed currently or in the past, the Morningstar rating would have been lower. ©2019 Morningstar Inc. All rights reserved.
